OVERVIEW

Join an exclusive expedition that brings you face-to-face with the ocean's most awe-inspiring predator—led by the living legend of shark diving himself, Rodney Fox. Now retired from running expeditions, Rodney is stepping back on board for this one-time-only journey to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Jaws, the film he helped shape with his pioneering shark cage designs and the first-ever underwater footage of Great White Sharks. This 10-day adventure through Southern Australia is more than a dive trip—it's a once-in-a-lifetime chance to join Rodney on the water, hear his personal stories, and dive into the legacy he created.

With just 9 guests aboard the MV Rodney Fox liveaboard vessel, you'll enjoy unmatched access, world-class hospitality, and six full days of diving in the Neptune Islands and Dangerous Reef. Explore from both surface and deep-sea perspectives—including the world's only Ocean Floor Elevator Cage, where Great Whites glide over the reef and sea grass just meters away. Legendary wildlife photographer Amos Nachoum will also be on board, offering hands-on coaching to help you capture these unforgettable moments in all their raw, natural power.

Whether you're a diver, photographer, or passionate adventurer, this expedition is your chance to witness Great Whites in their true habitat—alongside the pioneers who brought them into the global spotlight.

WHAT'S UNIQUE ABOUT THIS EXPEDITION

A ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME ENCOUNTER WITH LEGENDS

Join the only shark diving expedition led by Rodney Fox—the man whose real-life encounter with a Great White inspired the creation of the iconic shark cages used in Jaws. Rodney was also the first person to film Great White Sharks underwater, forever changing how we view these magnificent creatures. Now retired from running regular expeditions, this is the only opportunity to join Rodney on a trip, celebrating the 50th anniversary of Jaws and sharing firsthand stories from a lifetime spent beneath the surface with sharks.

CAPTURE THE PERFECT SHOT WITH A MASTER

World-renowned wildlife photographer Amos Nachoum also leads the expedition to offer hands-on photography coaching. Learn to frame, focus, and capture the raw majesty of Great Whites in their natural habitat—whether you're a beginner or an aspiring pro.

PRIME SHARK SEASON IN SOUTHERN AUSTRALIA

Experience peak Great White activity during December, the very best time of year to see multiple sharks in the wild. Dive into the waters off the Neptune Islands, where sightings of several Great Whites at once are not just possible—they're expected.

WORLD-EXCLUSIVE OCEAN FLOOR CAGE DIVING

Descend 60 feet (20 meters) below the surface in the world's only Ocean Floor Elevator Cage. Unlike surface cages, this unique setup brings you face-to-face with Great Whites in their unaltered environment—gracefully circling through swaying sea-grass, schools of reef fish, and dramatic underwater terrain.

AN INTIMATE, UNRUSHED EXPERIENCE

With a maximum of just 9 guests, enjoy ample cage time—with at least two dives per day on the ocean floor. No waiting in long rotations like larger groups. Just you and two other divers, a dive professional, and one of the most awe-inspiring animals on the planet.

THE LIVEABOARD

MV RODNEY FOX

Aboard the MV Rodney Fox vessel, you'll experience an unforgettable and thrilling adventure, with comfort and safety as top priorities. The vessel has been designed and equipped to ensure an enjoyable and secure journey as you explore the fascinating world of great white sharks.

The expedition vessel offers comfortable accommodations for guests, with a range of cabin options to suit different preferences. Most cabins are equipped with private en-suite bathrooms and air conditioning for a pleasant stay. The vessel also features cozy communal areas, including a spacious dining area where guests can enjoy delicious meals prepared by the onboard chef. Dietary requirements are taken into account to ensure everyone's needs are met.

The boat's spacious deck areas offer plenty of room for relaxation, socializing, and enjoying the stunning ocean views. It's also an excellent place for photography enthusiasts to set up their equipment and capture breathtaking images of the marine life, sunsets, and surrounding landscapes.

THE DIVING

Water Temperature: 59 - 62F (15 - 17C)

Visibility: 45 - 80 feet (15 - 20 meters)

When it comes to the shark diving experience, Rodney Fox Expeditions provides top-notch safety gear and uses custom-built cages for underwater encounters. The knowledgeable crew, with years of experience in great white shark diving, is always on hand to provide expert guidance, ensuring guests have a safe and memorable encounter with these magnificent creatures.

The Rodney Fox organization offers two distinct cage options for diving encounters: the lower cage and the surface cage. Each cage is designed to accommodate four divers, providing ample space and comfort.

SURFACE CAGE

The surface cage holds four divers comfortably. You enter the steady, super-strong cage from the dive deck, and you are completely safe at all times. Then the fun, excitement and pure adrenaline rush of the Great White Shark experience comes to life. These magnificent animals are mesmerizing and majestic, effortlessly gliding around and below the cage.

THE DIVING

OCEAN FLOOR CAGE

Our partner Rodney Fox Shark Expeditions is the only company in the world that has Ocean Floor Cage Diving. Anchored off the Neptune Islands, up to three guests with a Dive Professional descend approximately 66 feet (20 meters) into a world that will captivate and spell-bind.

Once divers in the lower cage are at ease, the dive masters will open the cage door, offering a clear and unobstructed view of the environment and the majestic sharks gliding gracefully above the seabed.

To ensure equal filming opportunities, the four divers in the lower cage will share the open-door experience, with two divers at a time capturing the breathtaking underwater world. Additionally, guests can look forward to a day spent diving with playful Australian seals and embarking on a quest to discover and photograph the elusive weedy and leafy sea dragons.

MEET YOUR GUIDES

Amos Nachoum is a distinguished figure in wildlife and underwater photography, seamlessly combining exploration and artistry for over 45 years. His dedication to capturing the essence of marine life has garnered him prestigious accolades, including twice winning the BBC Wildlife Photographer of the Year in Animal Behavior and the Siena Photo Competition in 'Animals in Their Environment' category.

Rodney Fox survived a severe attack by a Great White Shark in 1963, which inspired him to build the world's first shark cage and begin cage diving expeditions to observe and study the creatures. He filmed the first-ever underwater footage of Great White Sharks, which gained international recognition and contributed to the industry of shark cage diving.

Rodney continued to run tours and make films until 1999, and his son, Andrew Fox, now carries on the family legacy as a world-renowned underwater photographer and advocate of Great White Sharks. Andrew is now a globally recognized authority on great white sharks and is often approached by the media for his balanced opinion on environmental issues, shark attacks, and shark culling.

THINGS TO KNOW

TRIP ORGANIZER

Bringing an expedition like the Great White Shark Expedition to life takes a world-class team. That's why we've partnered with Amos Nachoum (Big Animals) and Rodney & Andrew Fox (Rodney Fox Shark Expeditions) to make this journey possible. The trip is organized and run by Big Animals.
